Cappy Pruett

Cappy Pruett is an experienced all breed handler and stock dog clinician. He has been hired to do clinics for the past 30 years throughout the United States, Canada, Australia, and Europe. He is a competitive open/advanced handler in all herding venues having won countless cattle trials hosted by the NCA-National Cattle Dog Association. Cappy has also been Grand Champion of the sheep dog competition at the National Western Stock Show in Denver multiple times and the Open Ranch Sheep Dog trial at the Minnesota State Fair. He is approved to judge and accepts assignments in most venues. When he is not traveling conducting clinics or competing, he is giving private lessons in his hometown of Hudson, Colorado. His training style is one of quiet confidence focusing on the dog learning to manage livestock with his handling partner.

What to expect from a Cappy Clinic: Cappy focuses on training in a calm quiet fashion. Emphasis is placed on teaching the dog how to manage livestock and listen to the handler versus placing the dog to get through a course. The handler is shown how to enforce the things they ask for and how to develop a positive relationship with the dog.
